CHARGES OF DISCRIMINATION BY CANADIAN RAILROADS MADE BY PEOPLE, INTERIOR ALASKA

Complaint Is Placed Before
Secretaries Hoover and Work at Nenana.

TO INSTITUTE INQUIRY PROMISE MADE NENANA.

Claim Made that White Pass
Discourages Travel to Yukon River Points.

NENANA, Alaska, July 17. — (By Associated Press.)—Secretaries Hoover and Work, of the Commerce and Interior Departments, respectively, promised the Nenana people yesterday they would jointly institute an inquiry through their departments and the Washington Government, to determine to what extent, if any, Canadian railroad authorities operating the White Pass & Yukon Route, and said to be co-operating with the Canadian Pacific, or discriminating against American transportation systems in Alaska.

The complaint of discrimination was made by R. G. Southworth, publisher of the Nenana News. Southworth said he would file with the Secretaries, information supporting his charge.

Secretary Hoover expressed belief that the Interstate Commerce Commission might have jurisdiction under a provision of the law covering unfair practices of competition between common carriers in that the White Pass & Yukon Route travels 20 miles through Alaskan territory, between Skagway and Whitehorse.

If discrimination was stopped, Southworth said, many passengers would enter inner Alaska by the Yukon river route and he charged travelers were at present discouraged by the Canadian authorities, who otherwise would use that route and contribute to the business of the Alaska Railroad which connects with waterway transportation at Nenana.

Hawaii Is to Fight For Rights As U. S. Territory

Farrington and other territorial officials.

The territorial government is mailing to the governors of all of the states and to each member of Congress a copy of the "Bill of Rights," which was approved April 26. A letter requesting aid in obtaining the recognition sought accompanies each copy.

The bill, containing 16 printed pages, reviews the history of the islands from 1843, when annexation to the United States was considered for the first time, until the present day.

"This declaration and its method of promulgation are extraordinary, unique in the history of legislation," the document says. "The reason for this procedure is that an extraordinary situation exists in Hawaii."

Sir Auckland declared he had been informed that home making liquor was on the decline on account of the poisonous qualities of the product. He said an increase had been computed at 40 per cent. in savings accounts since prohibition had been effective. He further said that so many other factors were involved that it was impossible to estimate how much prohibition contributed to the restoration of economic conditions after the war.

PRESIDENT IS RETURNING TO ALASKA COAST

Making Trip from Interior
Out Over Government
Railroad to Seward.

HARDING GIVES VIEWS REGARDING INTERIOR

Several Members of Presidential Party Are Making Trip Over Trail.

ON BOARD PRESIDENT HARDING'S SPECIAL TRAIN ON THE ALASKA RAILROAD, July 17.—(By the Associated Press.)—After assuring the people of Fairbanks of his "official and personal interest in the solution of Alaskan problems," President Harding with Mrs. Harding and members of their Alaskan party turned their faces southward late yesterday and traveled back over the Alaska Railroad after having spent nearly 24 hours in Fairbanks, the most northernmost point of their trip.

Both the Chief Executive and Mrs. Harding left Fairbanks last evening greatly impressed by the agricultural and mining industry, of which this city, sometimes known as the "Chicago of Alaska," is the center. They were both disappointed at not being able to travel over the Richardson trail as originally planned. The President only gave up the trail trip when Mrs. Harding showed the effects of the strenuous Alaskan tour with long daylight hours and short nights rest.

Harding Expresses Regret
The President's disappointment was made keener by the elaborate preparations over the 300-mile trail by Col. James G. Steese, Chairman of the Alaskan Engineering Commission, to whom the Chief Executive expressed the deepest regrets.

Secretary Wallace and a small portion of the party were enroute over the trail today, however, and will join the major portion at Valdez.

DELINQUENT GROUPS IN COLLEGE ARE FOUND TO FAVOR EASY LIFE

EVANSTON, Ill., July 17.—(By Associated Press.)—Too little sleep, too much play, not enough study, too much leisure, fast eating and diversified thinking are factors that devalue students and are responsible for the "delinquent groups" found in every university, according to a report made public by Professor Delton Thomas Howard of Northwestern University.

In Northwestern alone, out of 1,635 students in the college of liberal arts, Professor Howard found a "delinquent group" of 265 composed of 166 men and 99 women. In other words, he points out, 16 out of every 100 students do not "pass." But delinquency does not necessarily imply lack of intelligence, the professor found.

"No result of our study," the Northwestern professor writes, "is more significant and interesting than the discovery that the average intelligence of the so-called delinquent group is quite as high as that of the general student body."

Students found to be delinquent are put on probation at Northwestern and have to make good or be dropped from the roster. "The probationers," the investigator reports, "devote more time, as a whole, by their own confessions, to athletics, social activities, outside work, leisure, than do the freshmen; less time to sleep, campus activities, meals, classes and studies."

Among the total group of men interviewed, 15 were thought to be handicapped by "mental immaturity." Commenting on this Professor Howard remarks:

"These are boys who have, for the most part, been reared under easy circumstances and who have never been required to view life seriously. Such students have a distinctly childish attitude towards their classroom work, have no intellectual interests, no definite ambitions, no sense of responsibility. In most of these cases, as might be expected, high-school preparation has been superficial and inadequate."

Illness, family troubles, and financial worries are among other causes leading to students being put on probation.

Professor Howard drew attention to the comparatively high percentage of delinquent students, using his figures to illustrate the serious situation in American universities today.
